

WETTEST JUNE IN DANVILLE IN MANY YEARS

The wettest June remembered here for many years—and probably the wettest—will close with next Friday. While accurate and complete temperature records are not available, it is generally conceded that rarely has the whole month maintained a lower range of temperatures, or has there been precipitation on so many days. While the rainfall has not been heavy generally, several severe downpours have contributed to keep the soil moist, while the sunshine has been sufficiently abundant and warming to stimulate the garden and farm crops.

With hardly more than two or three uncomfortable days, the forecast for today is for cooler weather. That will leave only five days of the month for the temperature average to be raised. It is a safe prophecy that not in many years has the average mean temperature been lower than in June, 1922, while the high temperature range is far below that of June, 1921.

Withal, good growing weather has been the rule and vegetation is generally flourishing, including the tobacco and corn crops.

Next Saturday will mark the half year and the semi-annual dividend period of many local institutions and enterprises, with the disbursement of a large sum of money in this city.

AMONG THOSE FLYING

Among those who took a flight yesterday in the aeroplane which is now in Danville were Miss Mable Willis Penn, Miss W. Spencer, William Davis and Billie Haynes.

Officers Find Two Stills At Home Of Negro

Walter Norris, negro, an old offender, was arrested Saturday afternoon, charged with distilling and storing liquor. The raid was made by Sergeant Martin and Officers Bowles and W. S. Edwards on Norris' three-room house one mile north of the city.

No one was at home at the time and the officers had plenty of time for explorations. The results attained were highly satisfactory. It appears that Norris is an artist in his line. He had fitted up his humble abode into a splendidly equipped and arranged distilling plant. There was every convenience and meticulous care had been taken to keep everything sub rosa.

Complaints had reached police headquarters as far back as last fall that Norris was conducting moon-shining operations at his home, but up to yesterday officers had been unable to find anything amiss. Yesterday when the officers arrived at the place, there was no visible evidence of any distilling but satisfactory evidence was brought to their nostrils before they had gotten across the threshold. A search disclosed loose boards in two rooms. Under the flooring in one room were found four pits of a shape and size to receive a 50-gallon barrel. In the other room under the flooring was found one pit. In the barrels was 200 gallons of mash ready for a run. Still no still. The officers continued the search and in the stable, 30 paces from the house, two stills were found in a cellar under the feed room. The entrance to this cellar had been carefully camouflaged. Along with the stills was found complete equipment for turning out white liquor.

The moonshining was done in the house where there were two stoves side by side. The stills were made out of washing tubs soldered together and the worms and caps were made of copper. The workmanship on the stills, worms and caps was the best the officers have seen in this section.

One gallon and a half of liquor and a small quantity of blackberry brandy were found by the officers under the flooring of the house.

Norris was arrested after the raid and a favorite rendezvous of his on Union street. He was placed in jail, making no effort to obtain bail. He will be given a preliminary hearing in Mayor's court tomorrow morning. Neighbors of the negro stated last night that the alleged moonshiner had recently bought a Winchester rifle and had let it be known that he wanted no one to come near his house night or day. They also said that Norris had on several occasions fired at persons who came too close to his home at night. It is said that the negroes of the neighborhood were all afraid of him.

Swanson Begins Work In State

RICHMOND, Va., June 24.—Senator Swanson has been here and made an address before his friends in connection with the senatorial campaign. The meeting was well attended and it was enthusiastic. The senator said he was attending to his duties, those to which the people of Virginia elected him, and that he did not propose to abandon that post for the mere sake of appearing before the people in self-laudation to win the nomination to succeed himself, and that he felt certain that the people of Virginia would continue to repose trust in him as they had in the past. Other speakers declared that they saw no reason for any change, one of them declaring that "Virginia has had big men in the Senate for a long time—Martin, Swanson and Glass, and that this is no time to make any change." This sentiment was roundly applauded. Reports brought here during the reunion from every section of Virginia, and communicated to his friends, are that there is nothing to cause any uneasiness on the part of Senator Swanson's friends except the feeling that if the vote is gotten out he will win by an enormous majority. And in the rural sections there has been launched a campaign that will have telling effect on the people being given the reading matter and the public record of the senator for the last 25 years.

MEN ARE NEEDED FOR ARTILLERY

A recruiting party, consisting of Lieutenant F. J. Loupret, Sgt. Maj. C. A. Kellison, and Sgt. C. D. Reed, representing the coast artillery, Fort Monroe, Va., were in Danville Saturday night spreading publicity for the coast artillery and the citizens military training camps.

Due to the limited time allowed, recruiting officers were not established, but anyone who may be interested in either the regular army or the summer training camp, of the C. M. T. C., to be held at Fort Monroe from July 27th to August 26th, should correspond with the commanding officer, Fort Monroe, Va. Immediately June 30th ends the present fiscal year and that means the reduction of the pay of the army for men enlisted after that date. The time pay will be continued for all men enlisting prior to that date. At the present time there are vacancies for about 25 regulars at the big artillery post, and practically an unlimited number of vacancies in the C. M. T. C.

POLICE SURPRISE YOUTHFUL PARTY OF CARD PLAYERS

Police officers Saturday afternoon surprised a party of youths who were indulging in a game of cards at the Danville Billiard Mills on Main street. There was a first apparent attempt for a scramble for safety but the players saw they were cornered and the officers had no trouble in taking them in charge. Those arrested were Lee Burnett, Robert Franklin, Lonnie Hayden, Joe Vaughn, Willie Parry, E. H. Harvey, Rod Bullington, J. L. Pate and Fred Grimes. The raid was conducted by Sergeant J. H. Martin and Det. Men George Price and O. W. Bates.

The raid was the result of information received by Sergeant Martin. That official was informed by telephone by some unknown person that there was a crowd of boys playing cards inside the building, right in the heart of the city. The informant told the officer that they were smoking and that he thought it wise to break up the game. A carefully thrown match or cigarette started a fire. Sergeant Martin, with the two other named officers, was soon on the scene of the game.

Verdict Of $4,000 Given Lora Gee; Sued For $30,000

A verdict of $4,000 was returned Saturday night at 7:33 p. m., in the damage suit of Lora Gee against W. Y. Noel. The jury was out about one hour and ten minutes.

The suit was the recovery of $30,000 and was brought by Mrs. R. M. Gee, mother of Lora Gee. It was claimed that the young girl was damaged as a result of the alleged attack in the Noel factory April 19, 1921.

A motion was made by counsel for defense to set the trial aside. This motion will be argued later.

As soon as the verdict had been returned the jurors in the case were thanked by Judge Withers and were discharged for the rest of the term.

It is understood that the reaching of the verdict by the jury was a matter of compromise. Several of the jurors were for a much higher verdict with others for a smaller verdict. It was rumored also that there was one juror who at first was for a verdict for defendant, but was later prevailed upon to agree on a compromise verdict. This, of course, could not be confirmed.

Duval Martin, of Lynchburg, made the opening argument in behalf of the plaintiff. He spoke for twenty minutes and sought to emphasize what he termed inconsistencies in the plaintiff's counsel and the sympathy of the jury assuming that all of the evidence of the plaintiff was true. Mr. Harris reviewed the evidence, enlarged upon the discrepancies in testimony and maintained that sufficient proof of the alleged assault had not been produced to warrant the awarding of damages to the plaintiff.

Julian Meade followed Mr. Harris and intimated some ulterior motive in the suit and that behind the girl's sinister influence had been brought to bear. He also went over the evidence and touched on the instructions being followed by Eugene Withers who treated the entire case exhaustively, going over the evidence and stressing the lack of corroboration of the girl's testimony and emphasizing particularly the fact that the factory manager was on the upper floor of the factory, heard the elevator ascend and descend inside of a minute and heard no outcry for help.

The closing argument was from John Lee who was characteristically impressive in his delivery and resorting to little familiarities with the jury which gave his summing up a personal touch. He stood over the jury, called over the members by name and went exhaustively through the case, laying special stress on what he called the ridiculous theory of blackmail. Such weak points in the defense case as had developed were the points of assault during the address in which he sought to show that the childish simplicity of Lora Gee was one of the most potential points in her favor. He said at the outset of his address that he was not going to parade the child before the jury in an effort to arouse prejudice and passion. He pursued a line of cold analysis of the evidence. The girl and her mother did not appear in the courtroom during the closing phases of the trial.

OFFICERS RAID BIG STILL WHILE IN FULL BLAST

After capturing a large distilling outfit near Sutherland, Prohibition inspectors W. T. Shelton and V. O. Smith and Federal Agent J. S. Hash visited a point near Whitcomb, raising another outfit, consisting of a large copper still, 150 gallons of mash, three fermenters and other material.

The raid occurred about 10 o'clock Saturday. Just as the officers approached the place, a watchman who was not very far from the distilling plant, the moonshiners had fled. Burning embers were under the still and every indication showed that a big run was in progress. No arrests were made.

COPPER STILL WAS CAPTURED

A copper still, 150 gallons capacity, and three fermenters, were captured Saturday night at a point near Whitcomb, Va., by Prohibition inspectors W. T. Shelton, V. O. Smith and Federal Agent J. S. Hash. A large quantity of mash was found at the still but the authorities expect to make an arrest in a few days.

Chautauqua Week Has Fine Program

This is Chautauqua week. The five days from Tuesday until Saturday, inclusive, will be in large measure given over to enjoyment of this series of educational and thought-stimulating addresses, with entertainment of a musical, literary and varied character interspersing the lectures.

The entertainments are those of the Radcliffe Chautauqua, which have not been heard of seen here. Last year and in 1921 the Swarthmore Chautauqua, a Pennsylvania organization, contributed the programme and prior to that time the Redpath organization visited Danville and entertained among the people for a week each year.

The Radcliffe organization is not unknown here and comes with fine commendations from other cities where the series has already been put on. At least one of the lecturers, Dr. D. W. Danil, of Clemon College, S. C., has been heard here on two or three occasions and has many friends here. He and such men as Stanley Rebs, of Danville, and the number scheduled here for this week.

The cost of the whole entertainment series is very low—only $2.50 for the five days for adults and one dollar for a school child of any age. The fact that the lectures are given in the surplus over and above the sum required to meet expenses will appeal to the masses of the people of Danville, that being easily the most popular beneficence or philanthropy in the city.

The program by days may be thus summarized:

Tuesday—(afternoon and evening)—The Vassar Girls sextette, in a vocal and instrumental music entertainment; Dr. D. W. Daniel, lecturer on "Sexual Hygiene"; and "How We Got Our Government," at night.

Wednesday—The Clifford Collins duo in character sketches, readings and humor. In the evening the Skibby-Reed violin and other music, including song by Miss Myra Reed, colatura soprano and a brilliant pianist. In the afternoon Edward Tomlinson will lecture on "Making the Green Corn True" and in the evening on "America's Political Faith."

Thursday—J. Coates Lockhart and his trio of Scotch lassies in costume, rendering a program of vocal and instrumental music, all with the delightful Scotch flavor. "The mysterious Milburn," magician, in a clever exhibition of legerdemain, with humor and merriment intermingled, is also included in the program. Tuesday, both afternoon and evening, by W. T. S. Culp, on "The Value of an Individual" in the afternoon, and "America's Ideal in Social Service" in the evening.

Friday—The Royal Marimba band, a Central American musical aggregation now widely known and appreciated in this country, will be heard at both entertainments. The lecture feature for both occasions is the appearance of Stanley F. Krebs, prolific writer on business, social and individual life and honorary life-member of the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions clubs. He will speak in the afternoon on "Getting Together for the Good," and in the evening on "America's Ideal in Industry."

Saturday—The fifth and final day will present Helen Ware, violinist, composer and author and symphony orchestra soloist, and George Harold Miller, baritone, with experience in grand opera roles and soloist at music festivals. The lecturer for Saturday afternoon and evening will be Henry Coe Culbertson, traveler in the East and Near East and until recently president of Ripon college, Wisconsin. "The Durable Satisfaction of Life" will be the afternoon subject, and in the evening he will speak on "Which—A Tower of Babel or a United America?"

Season tickets are on sale at Rosentock's, Harman's, West End pharmacy, Haggen's Central pharmacy, Clinton's and Trent's drug-stores on North Main, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Schoolfield "Y" and Keeling Bros.' office.

CHAUTAUQUA APPEAL

The Chautauqua that is to be given this week for the benefit of Hill-top Sanatorium, donates all above the guaranteed fund to the above named institution. This entertainment offers to the people of Danville a rare opportunity of not only receiving five afternoons and nights of delightful entertainment but at the same time assisting one of the most worthy institutions in the city. Every patient that is taken care of at Hill-top renders each citizen less liable to contract tuberculosis. By maintaining an institution of this kind you not only assist those already afflicted but you bring back to health and life the self-supporting, but you are contributing to your own and family's safety.

CROSLAND INSTRUCTOR IN SUMMER BIBLE SCHOOL

A clipping from the Nashville Tennessean contains a story of the vocational training school at Ward-Barnett, Nashville, Tenn., the first half of which has just closed. After giving the list of instructors for the second half, the Tennessean says: "Dr. C. E. Crosland, associate president of Ward-Barnett, whose duties would not permit him to give full time to either half of the course, has served as a reserve instructor during the first half and will occupy a similar position during the last period." Miss Lizzie Lowndes, a well known Danville educator, is spending the summer in Nashville.

CHATHAM NEWS

CHATHAM, June 24.—The Business Men's Club of this place is making big preparations for the fourth at which time a grand rally will be held in honor of the Farmers' Co-operative Association. Speakers of prominence will be on hand to discuss the issues, races and games for the younger folks and a brass band to give zest and enthusiasm to the day. The farmers are requested to bring baskets for their families. This will be the beginning of the one hundred sign-up campaign which will be waged in Pittsylvania county for the several coming weeks.

The week following the splendid rain of Monday has been ideal for farm work and has been the busiest week of the season. Most of the wheat crop is now in the shock and some few have threshed, but as to yield not enough has been done to form an idea generally as to the crop. While not many expected it, it is far superior to that of last year. Corn is looking well and the tobacco is starting nicely.

Chief of Police C. D. Johnson and Mrs. William C. High, of this place, were quietly married in Danville on Sunday last, the nuptials being very quietly celebrated, and not made known to their most intimate friends until several days following. # MURDER OF SIR HENRY AIDS PREMIER'S FOES

LONDON, June 24.—The shocking assassination of Field Marshall Sir Henry H. Wilson has unquestionably resulted in a sudden accession of strength to the "die-hard" movement recently inaugurated against Lloyd George and Coalition control. Quick advantage of the event is taken today in the Morning Post, under whose auspices a fund of more than 10,000 pounds for the next light already has been collected, and which is chief sponsor for this implacable and belligerent group, to promote a popular revolution against the government's Irish policy and to capitalize for political purposes the national horror over a murder of so conspicuous and colorful a figure.

As is so often the case, however, the overmastering desire to crush an opponent tricks men into the mistake of hitting too hard and too hastily at a reaction from the violence and virulence of the Post attack already is discernible.

There is something in the fiber of the British people that instinctively revolts against overstatement. Exaggeration in condemnation is as unpalatable to them as exaggeration in commendation. Moderation makes the most effective appeal to the English temperament. It does not require a very deep study of British psychology to get at this basic fact. It is not, therefore, surprising that the natural impetus of the swing against the government supplied by a tragedy of this sort and the swift deducible from it was due to a mistake. Irish policy should be checked by a statement as this in the leading Post editorial this morning.

The government and the opposition in surrendering to murder and violence, sealed the fate of such brave men as stood out against them. Therefore, we do not fear to say in this solemn moment that in surrendering the cause of law and order, Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. Austen Chamberlain and Mr. Asquith all share in the murder of Sir Henry Wilson and are bedabbed with the stain of his blood.

While there is certainly no disposition to share in this extreme view, there are undoubtedly a good many men who have up to yesterday regarded the Irish situation as bound ultimately to settle in a treaty. The editorial in the Morning Post, however, is now asking themselves whether, after all, it is possible to deal with Ireland except by force. This feeling, to an extent, has stimulated the anti-Coalition campaign which has been under way for some weeks.

In the judgment of the clearest-headed thinkers here, however, it cannot gain sufficient headway to create a genuinely acute political situation. The nose is adherents make, it is asserted, is utterly out of proportion to their numbers. The pendulum is sure to swing back.

The important thing is that there will be no change in the government's policy toward Ireland. Despite the death of this gallant soldier has stirred the people, it would

Target For Police; Benton Wounded

gan back after it and he continued to be shot by Cook. He was hit by Benton and Lewis, the wounded man being very angry, demanding the officer give a reason why he shot him. The officer states that Benton was furiously angry and that he tried to retaliate with him and explain, but he became offensive in his remarks, according to Cook, cursing him harshly. "Those names were hard to take," asserted Cook, "but under the circumstance, I had to do it."

As the men went into the hospital where the wounded man had his injuries dressed, Cook says that he immediately called up police headquarters, and told what had happened. Sergeant H. T. Haraway answered the phone and he went directly to the hospital.

Cook quotes Sergeant Haraway as saying that Benton told him (Haraway) that he "had never stopped for a man yet who flagged him down."

The officer stated several times that he only fired at the tires and gas tank and that he would not have pointed his gun to shoot a person for anything. When he was firing it was not his intention to hit anybody but he intended to hit the gas tank and the tires. The bullets went higher than he intended, and "I am sorry," said Cook as he brought his story of the affair to conclusion.

Examination of the bullet ridden Nash car in a garage this morning revealed five distinct bullet marks. Most of these are reasonably close to the rear left hand tire but one of the bullets was aimed too high. It cleared the coach work penetrated the fabric of the rear curtain and followed its course one readily sees that it was this bullet which wounded Benton. The other four bullets in the rear of the car escaped death the two heads of the lads reclining in the rear seat. A second bullet entered the head of the man who was killed. This was deflected into the body of the machine making a big dent where it entered near the floor of the car. A third bullet penetrated the lower left hand corner of the car body. A fourth bullet carved a slanting hole in the mudguard and the fifth was aimed dead on the tire but split open the edge of the tire left hand mudguard. As the tire was flat it is assumed that one of the bullets must have penetrated the tire.

The windshield is broken on the car in direct line with the bullet that passed through the rear curtain and there are bloodstains freely scattered about the car.

Police Officer A. C. Morgan late this morning consented to give his version of the shooting affair.

He was on Jefferson Avenue, near Five Forks where he heard a report which sounded like a shot. He walked up to Green Street Park where he joined Police Officer Cook. Together they stood in the dark and waiting for what would happen as result of the crash. Pretty soon, Morgan says, an automobile was heard to start and it came into sight coming down the hill from Paxton. Morgan says that he could not say how fast it was running but it was "fast." "Let's stop that car," he said, "Morgan quotes Cook as saying, adding that if those are not the exact words such as they were. Both officers, Morgan says, ran out into the street and waved their flashlights and then called on the driver to halt. The car checked momentarily as it approached and then the driver put on speed and whirled by. It was then, Morgan says, that Cook drew his revolver and fired at the car. Morgan says ran on after the car while Morgan remained where he was. Later Cook sent one of the Register sales boys to Green street park and told him to tell Morgan to go to the hospital and get his wound dressed. Morgan went to the hospital and arrived as the man's wounds were being tended. Morgan is sure there were four people in the car when it passed him.

In The Mayor's Court

An additional 30 days was added to the jail term of Bud Williams, colored, for escaping the chain gang. Williamson was sent after the prisoners' dinner several days ago and did not return. He was later captured.

Rufus Martin, colored, was fined $2.50 for an alleged assault on Lula Martin, his wife, Vane Smith, also colored, was fined $2.50 for disorderly conduct. She is said to have become abusive when a policeman arrived on the scene.

Lester McNorris, colored, charged with larceny of railway ticket, did not answer to name.

Lena Polidexter, a negro, who charged Walter Jennings, colored, with assaulting her, said she had forgiven him and Jennings was made to pay the costs of the warrant which was $3.45.

M. C. Vernon was fined $16.95 for speeding.

Nine youths submitted to charges to charges of gambling between the time of their arrest and court time and were assessed $17.45 each. They were Lee Burnett, Robert Franklin, Lonnie Hay, Joe Vaughn, Willie Pate, E. H. Harvey, Ruel Rullington, J. L. Pate and Fred Grimes.

Two Boys Are Held For Theft.

A series of thefts which have been detected by the Farmers Supply company on Main street have resulted in the arrest on Sunday of two negro boys, who give their names as George Overly and George Smith, one giving his age as 14 and the other 16.

Police Officer Foster Harris on yesterday afternoon saw a negro boy carrying sardines. Knowing that no place was allowed to sell them on Sunday, the officer began to question the boy. The negro seemed confused and told different stories. Finally he said, "I am in a warehouse and I have been questioned together, finally admitting breaking into the Farmers Supply company and taking the goods. It was learned they had taken a quantity of sardines and other articles were taken. The boys gave an address by bearing a board on the back door to the place.

This is what happened when the ocean steamer Glendora crashed into a drawbridge over the Hackensack river between Newark and Jersey City, N. J. The span fell into the river. Five men on the bridge were rescued.

Bryan Charges Evolutionists Trying To Oust Religion For Science

William Jennings Bryan today entered the lists against the new evolution theory that science rather than religion should determine right and wrong.

He stands solidly against Professor William Morris Davis' theory, along with the Rev. John A. Rask of the Catholic University of America, and the Rev. Dr. Charles I. Slattery, rector of Grace Church, New York.

Opposed to them, favoring the scientific side, are Charles P. Steinmetz, Luther Stodder and Dr. Hendrik van Loon, as already told by NLA Service.

Here is Bryan's answer to the suggestion that morals be taken from the field of religion and placed in the realm of science, as advocated by Prof. Davis, Phi Beta Kappa orator at the Harvard commencement:

Richmond Boy Is Shot By Playmate In Gun Accident

COVINGTON, June 26.—Roy Barron Perkins, aged 13, 1213 North Twenty-second street, was shot and killed yesterday morning at the boys home at Covington, Va., by Floyd Siedd, aged 13, when a rifle held by the latter was accidentally discharged, was a charter member of the Junior rifle corps of Richmond and was president and faithful member since the organization was formed. He had also been elected instructor of the Junior rifle corps. He was an expert shot with a rifle, and understood the science of marksmanship. He had won medals and prizes for his marksmanship. Members of the squad will be pall-bearers at his funeral, which will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at Fairmount Avenue Baptist church.

Perkins and Siedd were spending their vacation, together with several other boys at the boys' home in Covington when the accident occurred. They were camping in the Rotary building. Perkins was sitting down at the time of the shooting and Siedd was standing up with the rifle in his hands preparing to shoot at a target which had been put up for the purpose of practice by the boys. Siedd had loaded the rifle and, in trying to cock it, the rifle slipped and some of the powder in the barrel, and turned in the direction of Perkins, who was shot about midway between the shoulder blades, the shot proving fatal. Perkins fell over, uttering, "I am gone." He was taken to the Stafford Patterson and Norman Campbell, who was nearby.

Minds Her Knittin' At Meetin' and Is Elected Tax Chief

HARTFORD, Conn., June 26.—As the sat and knit during eight ballots, Miss Ida Penfield last night was elected Tax Collector at the meeting of the South Glastonbury Fire District. Her opponent, a leading opponent, was the distinction of being beaten by the first woman Tax Collector in Connecticut.

Hollister had been Collector for a year and was eager for reelection. A reliable group that voted for him all the way, but the tip was out that a woman ought to have the job, and after Mrs. Florence L. Curless had withdrawn, following several "no choice" ballots, Miss Penfield was declared elected.

She stopped knitting long enough to make a graceful little speech of appreciation.

FIELD MARSHAL HAIG WILL RE-ENTER THE LIQUOR TRADE

LONDON, June 26.—Field Marshal Earl Haig is shortly to re-enter the liquor trade, with which he was connected as a director of the prominent firm of John Haig & Co. The controlling interest in the company was acquired in 1919 by the Distillers Company, Limited, of Edinburgh, holding a monopoly for one of the largest group of whiskey interests in the world. The Field Marshal will join the Distillers' board in July. His family has been connected with the Haig company since 1877, his father having been one of the founders.

EXPRESS COMPANY WANTS PAY BEFORE LIQUOR IS SHIPPED

RICHMOND, Va., June 26.—Solely by government agents of liquor shipped by express are now being required to pay the express company before the liquor is allowed to be shipped. In its application to the Virginia State corporation commission, the company asserts that "the express company is entitled to be paid for the purchase of the liquor before the liquor is shipped." The company has no way to guard against shipments moving under such terms.

LIQUOR RE-HEARINGS

The corporation court will probably adjudge before the end of the week. Today was spent in hearing liquor cases appealed from the police court.

Prohibition Party In N. Y. Is Broke

NEW YORK, June 25.—With 30 or 40 delegates in attendance from nine counties, including Orange and Saratoga, the state committee of the prohibition party was in session more than four hours yesterday afternoon at the Washington living high school, sixteenth street and Irving place, and discussed ways and means of keeping alive the organization. At one stage of the meeting a resolution was adopted to continue the prohibition party in this state, putting up candidates for the various offices and urging a rigid enforcement of the prohibition laws, but later, when an effort was made to raise funds with which to carry on the work, only $38 a month was pledged from the delegates. A little more than $100 was raised in addition to pay off some of the present indebtedness.

Still later, the divergence of opinion among the delegates, thinly veiled at the opening, became more pronounced, and it was finally decided to revamp the organization and perhaps give it a new name. It was decided to have a committee of five consider plans for the improvement and betterment of the party and also to consider the changing of its name. This committee will report at a meeting to be held on the last Saturday in July. Edward H. Wank of 937 East Thirty-fourth street, Brooklyn, was appointed Chairman of the committee. He said: "We have issues up our sleeves that will attract progressive elements."

Several members of the state committee declared that the time was ripe for a new political party, embracing other important issues as well as prohibition. It was generally agreed that to make any progress it would be necessary to have a name that did not give the impression that it was purely a prohibition party. It was asserted that persons dissatisfied with the two leading parties were deterred from enrolling in the movement because of the name, it being argued that as prohibition has already been achieved there is no need for such a party.

James, a salesman of Matthews, had been removed to the Middlesex county jail, as it was feared another attempt would be made by the citizens of Matthews to lynch him. Feeling is said to be running high in the community where the attack took place. With the negro spirited away, however, no further violence is anticipated.

—Got So Weak She Had To Go to Bed—But Read Her Story

Oswatonsville, Kans.—Mrs. E. E. Keast, 1011 E. 11th, residing here, says: "When I came to this state eleven years ago, and I had good health for a long while, and then some year or so ago I had a sick spell. "I got so weak I couldn't get up. I couldn't stand on my feet at all. I had to go to bed. "I suffered a great deal. I was so nervous I felt I couldn't live. "I tried medicines, and everything, but I got no attention, yet I wasn't able to get up. "I lay for three months, not able to do anything. "My husband is a bill poster and has cholesters distributed. One day there came to be a Ladies Birthday Almanac among his circulars. I read it, and it told me of the family to get a bottle of Cardui. They laughed and said I wouldn't take it. But I did. I began with a tablespoonful every two hours. "I quit all other medicines and took it (Cardui) faithfully, and two weeks from the time I began to take Cardui I was out of bed—better than for months. "I kept it up and continued to improve until I was a well woman. "Do you wonder that I am a believer in Cardui? I certainly am. And I am sure there is no better tonic made for women than Cardui." All druggists sell Cardui, for women.—adv.

HEIRS TO BLOODY LEBAUDY MILLIONS ARE PRISONERS IN PARIS FLAT

The outlook in the lumber industry is also more hopeful. Up to the middle of April 275,000 to 210,000 standard cords of sawed and planed goods, or about one-third of the calculated annual production, had been sold. France has been an eager buyer and seems to consume at once what she buys. England has not yet commenced to buy, but will probably do so in some time, to do so owing to the significance of her stocks she has on hand.

Germany's Flag Is Not Popular

BERLIN, June 24.—(Associated Press.)—Systematic boycotting of Germany's new black, red and gold republican flag has reached such a stage that a referendum on the question of returning to the old standard is regarded as likely in the course of the present year. If recent demonstrations may be regarded as a criterion of public sentiment, the proposed petition for initiating the balloting will be signed.

In Berlin the inclination has been to hoist the old imperial colors or the Prussian black and white in preference to the republican flag. At the capital's leading sports grounds and at the stadium where a national athletic meet is in progress the black, white and red flag is flying from most of the stands, only one republican standard being hoisted. Recently when flags were ordered half-masted in mourning over the loss of Upper Silesia, a striking display was seen. The State Opera House flew the former Prussian royal banner bearing a great cross; the museum hoisted no colors whatever. The Prussian flag, which was instructed by the Prussian ministry that the Prussian flag should be hoisted on one of its two staffs and the republican banner on the other, chose to display two Prussian standards. Even the ministry of defense neglected to fly a flag. In some quarters the lack of display of the republican colors is attributed to the shortage of republican bunting in the shops. It even is suggested that the Germans are not buying the official flag because they do not know how long it will be fashionable. Liberal circles voice the opinion that the action of the Weimar assembly in altering the German flag was an unnecessary demonstration of republican exuberance.

Mercantile shipping quarters resent interference with the former standard and only reluctantly display the new flag. It is pointed out by some sections of the public that the communists carry a red flag with the Soviet star in their demonstrations and that therefore there should be no objections to the former imperial or Prussian flags being used.

A posthumous exhibition of etchings by an American artist, Longley Wenban, is being shown in Munich as the first of a series of displays intended to create understanding and interest in graphic arts. The exhibition is in charge of Professor Otto Weighman, director of the state graphic collection.

Born in Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1864, Wenban came to Munich in 1878. His style is said never to have become widely popular during his life, and he was little known, even in Munich. The present exhibition includes an etching of blockhouses in Cleveland, but comprise largely scenes of German life.

The bejeweled personal field flask, which belonged to former Emperor William, has been discovered in the possession of a man, who aroused suspicion by developing from a poor man before the war to a man of surprising wealth. The canteen, when found was still resting in its original plush case.

Max Froehlich, in whose house the flask was unearthed, appeared in the limelight as commandant of the Steing Railroad Station during the November revolution. At that time he was condemned to be shot on charges of illegal commercial practices, but was discharged on the ground that he was mentally unbalanced. His present fortune amounting to from 40 to 50,000,000 marks.

and the discovery of the former emperor's flask, which bears the imperial monogram and the stopper of which is set with precious stones, led the authorities to investigate further, and it developed that Froehlich, during the revolution, had come into the possession of other things from the imperial and Crown Prince's palaces.

POLITICS LURE TO JAPANESE WOMEN

TOKIO, June 24.—The suffragettes of Japan have been quick to take advantage of the new police regulation passed by the Diet and which came into effect on May 10, prohibiting women to take part in political meetings, which has heretofore been prohibited. On the evening of the day on which the prohibition was lifted the women of Kobe held their first meeting in the Y. M. C. A. hall, they having and the hospitality of men as there are no women's organizations owning premises of their own.

The hall was filled an hour before the hour set for the meeting, about one-fourth being women and the rest men, equally divided between supporters and opponents of the woman's cause. The latter interrupted repeatedly but Madam Shizuko Sugai managed to get through her speech in which she demanded equal suffrage. For 2,000 years, she said, Japanese women have been held down by the weight of the three so-called virtues to obey parents while unmarried, to obey husbands when married and to obey the son after the husband is gone. Under the false morality of virtuous wife and wise mother, she has been robbed of her social privileges.

She denounced Japanese politicians as "double tongued monsters who promised the people much but always legislated for the privileged classes," and declared that the police should be abolished, subjecting the people to control which lacked all common sense. Giving the vote to women would awaken the people to a sense of their political responsibilities.

The women of Tokio and other cities waited for the first Sunday after May 10 when they held similar meetings. The Tokio meeting was largely devoted to a paper by Mrs. Kikue Yamakawa, advocating the adoption of a Soviet form of government and lauding the Bolshevik rule in Russia.

WAR MEMORIAL PROPOSAL

NEW YORK, June 24.—New York's permanent war memorial would include a great arch of freedom and one of the largest swimming pools in the world, with suitable approaches, to occupy 37 acres of Central Park near the lower reservoir, under recommendations submitted to the board of estimate today by the mayor's committee on permanent war memorial.

This committee, headed by Rodman Wamaker, asked for an appropriation of $600,000 to carry out the project.

A lagoon would lie between approaches to the Museums of Art and Natural History, with six fountains shooting streams forty feet in the air, these to be illuminated by night. A running track, a playground and a riding pool for children would be included.

A flower cut in the morning will last twice as long as one cut later in the day when the sun is shining upon it.

Information and suggestions will be appreciated. Telephone No. 1836. 6-20B&R10t

Labor Program
Seeks Election
Of Its Friends

CINCINNATI, June 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—Adoption of a program callign for non-partisan political campaign this fall to elect the friends of org and labor, and an overwhelming defeat of the radical forces that favor recognition of the Russian soviet government marked the closing session today of the American Federation of Labor convention.

Labor's political stand was adopted without discussion, including a resolution calling on all union men and women to enter more actively into politics with the purpose of ultimately controlling the machinery of our national government by capturing the Republican and Democratic parties, but the Russian question stirred up spirited debate that extended only on account of the parliamentary maneuvering of yesterday having shut off the flood of oratory.

The declaration against the soviet was the third taken by the convention and was a victory for the administration forces led by President Gompers, who in a formal statement tonight declared the action on the Russian question was of "especial significance" because "not a single local union has been overlooked by the proponents for soviet brutality and autocracy."

The federation's political campaign, as favored by a committee report that was adopted, provided that the general conduct of the campaign should be left to the executive committee of the federation. As a supplement to the report was a resolution, introduced by the Shawnee (Oklahoma) trades assembly, which was adopted, calling for all union men and women to become more active in the precinct, county, State and national conventions of the two big political parties.

Aside from the political and the Russian questions, the convention disposed of a mass of miscellaneous business in a hurried fashion. For the seventh time, the claim of jurisdiction of the glass workers over the making of the glass was put to a vote, the decision being against the machinists.

A promise of financial aid to striking textile workers and quarrymen was held out by the executive council being directed to make a general appeal for voluntary contributions. The council was also directed to investigate the patent laws of foreign countries and take such action it might deem necessary to stimulate American production under all patents.

Two congressmen were praised by the adoption of a committee report, which said they had "thwarted a scheme of reactionaries in the House of Representatives to appropriate money for the department of justice to prosecute, or rather persecute, labor and farmers under the anti-trust act."

These congressmen were Representative Nolan, Republican, California, and Representative Johnson, Democrat, Kentucky and the convention voted an expression of thanks for their work.

Efforts by organized labor to join hands with the farmers for mutual benefit was approved by the convention in adopting a committee report directing the council to continue to do "what it can to furtherance of educational work as well as acquaint the farmers with the issues that not only affect wage earners but the farmers as well."

A resolution also was adopted, putting the federation on record in opposition to "blanket legislation" for repeal of laws that discriminate against women. In arguing that specific repeals be proposed wherever any State laws discriminate against women, the resolution said a general repeal would jeopardize labor laws of benefit to women.

In adjourning the convention, President Gompers praised its work, referring especially to the action against the Russian soviet, as "fundamentally righteous." He also declared that the convention had demonstrated that organized labor "stood 100 per cent in support of the American government and institutions. Supplementing this speech with a formal statement tonight, Mr. Gompers declared the convention closed "with a constructive, American record of which we are proud," and added, "we have sought to do those things which would be of service to all of our people and which would expand the opportunities and liberties of all men, women and children."

BOOTLEG NEWSPAPERS ARE MINE WAR RESULT

HERRIN, Ill., June 24.—The Williamson county mine war has produced a new type of bootlegger—the newspaper bootlegger.

Local news stands were informed late last night that if they sold any out-of-town papers containing accounts of the fighting they would be "treated roughly." The news stands promptly closed up. Local papers publish comparatively small accounts, and, in fact, nowhere in the country is less news of the massacre published than right here, five miles from the scene of it.

Occasionally a person can slip in the backway of a news stand—just as if he were seeking a drink—and by whispering softly to the vendor, receive a little package which is hastily slipped into one's pocket. Unfolded, it is that much-sought-for information, an out-of-town paper, with a complete story of the trouble here.

Needless to say, the prices have risen in accordance with the law of supply and demand, and real bootleggers' figures are asked.

PERMISSION IS GIVEN TO PLAY SUNDAY BALL
IN VIRGINIA LEAGUE

NORFOLK, Va., June 24.—The Virginia baseball league meeting here tonight, gave permission to any team that wishes to play Sunday games. It was announced at once that the first Sunday game in the league would be tomorrow afternoon at Portsmouth, between Portsmouth and Newport News. There is a State law prohibiting Sunday baseball in Virginia.
